Over 30 years on the frontline

For over three decades, we have worked on the frontline supporting the public, businesses and individuals to speak up safely and report crime.

As an independent charity, we're able to provide a highly trusted anonymous reporting service directly to all members of the general public with information on criminality and wrongdoing. We help to protect employees, organisations and industries, consumers, families and whole communities.

The financial and social pressures created by the COVID-19 pandemic have sadly made our independent and anonymous services even more relevant.

Crimestoppers seeks to protect the most vulnerable sections of society. Behind each statistic there is inevitably a human story and a personal cost as a result of crime.

Crimestoppers guarantees a safe haven to report crime 100% anonymously.

Together we really do make that difference.

Are you ready to join us?

Campaigns

Crimestoppers is committed to raising awareness about all crime, regionally and nationally.

Crimestoppers' campaigns are a vital tool for raising awareness of crime often involving a specific call-to-action for information. We have strong brand recognition and trust as a wholly independent and anonymous service.

Over the past twelve months we have worked with partners from different sectors on a range of specific crime concerns. Working closely with our Marketing Communications team, we design short-term campaigns (typically six weeks) and ones that are on-going. Below offers a glimpse of a range of recent campaigns:

- Illicit streaming – Education Trust, on behalf of the entertainment industry
- Counterfeit alcohol – Wine and Spirit Trade Association
- Meter tampering and energy diversion – gas and electricity industry
- Domestic Abuse – supported by the Home Office
- Acquisitive Crime – supported by Morrisons and Link
- Rural crime – National Farmers' Union
- Modern Day Slavery/human trafficking – GLAA and Marshalls
- Always Report Abuse – Association of Convenience Stores, Home Office
- Crimestoppers COVID Fraud Hotline – Cabinet Office

Modern slavery is on your doorstep.

Information Sharing

Crimestoppers often receives vital information through the 0800 555 111 public service which we can share with organisations to help them tackle criminal threats targeting their business, customers and communities.

These reports often provide information that would otherwise go undetected relating to wrong-doing, including fraud, and also provide valuable insights into crime trends.

The B&Q logo is displayed in a large, bold, orange font.

“As a major UK DIY retailer, B&Q always look to forge partnerships with law enforcement bodies and Crimestoppers is a natural extension of this process. For the past 2 years Crimestoppers have provided actionable information to B&Q in relation to persistent problematic thieves and organised groups who target our business, along with very useful information regarding where these criminals dispose of stolen property. Utilising our bespoke Crime Centre and trained staff we use this information to work closely with the Police, bring offenders to justice and saving our business money.”

Simon Moss, B&Q Security Manager

Employee reporting Lines

Employee reporting lines are a fundamental defence for organisations to protect their business interests and their staff from wrong-doing and criminality. The offer of 100% anonymity is important for many people who would otherwise remain silent.

Crimestoppers always seeks to understand the requirements of organisations before making recommendations. Our highly experienced team support a range of partners with different needs, from those operating in a single office, to multiple sites including home working; suppliers, sub-contractors and temporary staff.

We support organisations in targeting their messages to educate and engage their employees, as well as reviewing and refreshing these in order to maintain impact.

We proactively account manage our partners as we share the common purpose of preventing and detecting wrong-doing and criminality.

Our partners include businesses, government bodies, law enforcement and trade bodies.

Industry reporting lines

Over the past five years Crimestoppers has increasingly supported partnerships seeking to communicate with the general public through a combination of our reporting and campaign services.

Organisations recognise that they aren't always best positioned to speak directly to the public or specific audiences. This might be due to public perceptions of their business activities, an innate mistrust of contacting organisations and institutions such as their own, or very limited experience of our specialist area of communications. None of our partners have the facility to take crime reports.

All our partners come to Crimestoppers because they have a PRESSING PROBLEM OR ISSUE.

We support the entire gas and electricity industry in meeting their obligation to protect customers by reducing and detecting meter tampering and large-scale energy extraction. We work with the car insurance industry in their fight against false insurance claims. Working with the Cabinet Office, we set up the Crimestoppers COVID Fraud Hotline tackling criminals exploiting the different government loan schemes.

The value of Industry reporting lines to our partners is immense.

Counter Fraud Authority

“Crimestoppers is an important contractor to NHSCFA and its telephone reporting line is one of the key channels for informing us of suspected frauds against the NHS, in addition to our online reporting tool and the work of Local Counter Fraud Specialists”.

Head of Intelligence & Fraud

FireStoppers.

“Year one of the FireStoppers trial provided more than a 20% reduction in deliberate fires following year-on-year increases within our service over five years. This led to a FireStoppers expansion, on a regional basis, collaborating with both Tyne and Wear and Northumberland Fire and Rescue Services from July 2019. The brand has provided a tool for fire crews and the Arson Reduction Team to use effectively through both social media platforms and face-to-face contact in our approach to reducing the impact of deliberate fire setting within our communities.”

Phil Innis, Group Manager, Emergency Response, County Durham and Darlington Fire and Rescue Service

Intellectual Property

Crimestoppers is a unique organisation with over 85% public recognition. We are trusted by the general public; our services are valued and used by all law enforcement agencies and over 60 public and private sector businesses.

They recognise the power of an association with the Crimestoppers brand. Our values support partners in communicating with their customers and communities. We work with banks, the energy industry, insurance, sport bodies and government institutions - all of which see the bottom-line benefits of the association with us.

Our brand is also used for the purpose of licensing partnerships. For example, we are working closely with Ring and share their commitment to protect people in their homes. As a new market entrant to the UK five years ago, they recognised the value of a partnership with the Crimestoppers brand to build consumer confidence.

Marshalls

“Marshalls' work with Crimestoppers in 2020 to eliminate modern slavery has been incredibly powerful. Being able to report potential instances of modern slavery 100% anonymously has given our frontline colleagues added confidence. The signs are good that this work will be ongoing throughout 2021 and that the sector will come together to work to end modern slavery. In what has been a difficult year for everyone, Crimestoppers has quickly become a valued and trusted partner; making an impact right here and now, as well as having an eye to what will be needed in the future.”

Elaine Mitchel-Hill,
Business & Human Rights Lead, Marshalls plc.

3rd party partnerships

We are delighted to have the opportunity to work closely with other organisations sharing the same values, crime concerns and commercial interests as us.

We are keen to speak to organisations, where we can share messages, audiences and prospects, while recognising the skills and experience both parties bring to the relationship.

HAROD GLOBAL INVESTIGATIVE SOLUTIONS

“Harod have been delighted to work closely with the Crimestoppers family for over 4 years. During that time we have particularly benefitted from their professionalism and innovative willingness to listen and develop solutions. No problem is too big for them. During the past year we took that a step further and undertook a joint operation utilising a hotline solution. The consequent provision of such a first class whistleblower service during a major sports investigation was vital to receiving high quality intelligence. This intelligence developed into major leads for the enquiry team and ultimately contributed to the success of the investigation. It is great to know when ‘flying the trade flag’ with overseas partners we can offer such professional services.”

Martin Dubbey, Managing Director, Harod

Corporate networking and events

Whether you're looking to manage your brand reputation, engage with the community, build employee goodwill or gain a commercial advantage, Crimestoppers can help.

Networking

We host networking events throughout the year with the aim to bring us and our partners closer together. Our partners find these very beneficial as they enable dialogue with other organisations, across sectors, that share similar concerns and opportunities to learn.

These enable us to share and celebrate successful partnerships and cultivate long-lasting relationships that improve the wellbeing of our businesses and local communities.

Sponsorship

Each year we run a number of flagship events involving senior figures from policing, law enforcement, government and business leaders from multiple industry sectors. We have a range of sponsorship options available.

London Marathon and Fundraising

Our golden bonds events, like The London Marathon, give you and your staff the chance to get involved in one of the nation's key calendar events, and raise money for a very worthwhile charity.
